

On the Hill

Spring Session Recap

It was an exciting and productive spring session in Ottawa!

I had the chance to meet many new colleagues from across the country, and we all hit the ground running, working together to advance legislation that supports Canadians and their families. We've already begun advancing key legislation to cut personal income taxes, expand pharmacare and dental care benefits, improve affordability for families, remove barriers to economic growth, and support sectors and workers impacted by U.S. tariffs.

I was especially proud to deliver my very first remarks in the House of Commons during an SO31 statement, an unforgettable experience and an honour I won't soon forget.

I am also incredibly pleased to have been nominated to serve on the Standing Committee on Environment and Sustainable Development. Working to protect and conserve Canada's incredible natural beauty and fighting the effects of climate change is one of my personal priorities, and I am grateful to have been given the opportunity to officially contribute to these efforts at the federal level.

There's plenty more to be done, and as much as I love summers in Carleton, I'm excited to get back to work for the fall session.

REBUILDING REARMING REINVESTING IN THE CANADIAN ARMED FORCES

As the world grows more dangerous, Canada will lead, with values the world respects, the resources the world wants, and an economy that leads the G7.

These new investments will provide a significant pay raise for Canadian Armed Forces personnel, improved recruitment and retention, new aircraft, armed vehicles, ammunition, and more health care funding and staff to better support Armed Forces personnel and their families.

Our government is working to bring down the cost of living and to build an economy that serves everyone.

That's why we've cut taxes for the middle class, which will save Canadian families up to $840 per year.

Building a stronger, more competitive, and prosperous Canadian economy.

The new Major Projects Office will help to build projects that are in Canada's national interest by streamlining regulatory approvals and helping to structure financing, in close partnership with provinces, territories, and Indigenous Peoples.

Here to Serve.

Dear friends and neighbours,

It is the greatest honour of my life to have been elected as your Member of Parliament for Carleton. I am deeply grateful for the trust you have placed in me and for the encouragement I have received from so many people across our community. This achievement was only possible because of the tireless efforts of volunteers, the dedication of my campaign team, and the support of friends, neighbours, and families throughout Carleton. I want to sincerely thank each of you for making this journey a reality!

Our government got straight to work after the election, and the spring session of Parliament was both productive and focused. Under Prime Minister Mark Carney's leadership, our government has been working to advance legislation that addresses the issues Canadians care about most. From cutting personal income taxes and expanding dental and pharmacare programs to tackling housing and affordability challenges, our priorities are clear: support working families, invest in healthier communities, and create lasting opportunities for all.

Looking ahead to the fall session, I am eager to return to Ottawa to represent you and continue building a stronger, fairer Canada. My commitment is to listen, to work hard, and to ensure that the voices of Carleton are heard in the halls of government. Please don't hesitate to reach out to my office with your ideas, concerns, or suggestions. My job is, and always will be, serving you.

Warm regards and best wishes,

Bruce Fanjoy
MP, Carleton

Around Carleton

Great to see Watson's Mill full of committed citizens to discuss the future of historic Dickinson Square, and always a pleasure to see former MP Bill Tupper.

Had a great time at the Stittville Block Party! Hosted by local builders, this fun-filled event brings the community together to celebrate summer and the place we all call home.

Putting in a shift at the Long Island lock station then enjoying a cool-down paddle with my fellow MP Steven Guilbeault

Happy Pride to one and all!

It's always a privilege to take part in the Ottawa-Carleton Plowing Match to honour the proud history of farming in Canada. Thank you to the Walsh family for hosting, and all the volunteers and sponsors who make this event happen.

Fueling the future with youth power! Youth In Politics helps the leaders of tomorrow connect, share ideas, and make positive change happen in their communities.

Visiting STEM Camp in Stittville today, one of over 50 camps across Canada. This not-for-profit organization was founded by Kevin Cougler in 2012 to create a fun environment for children to learn about science, technology, engineering, and math.

Celebrating our community's diversity at the Stittville Multicultural Festival.

Canada Day festivities!

Proud to stand alongside the Stittville Muslim Association as we fight against bigotry and hate. Incidents of targeted harassment and hate-filled graffiti have no place in our communities and neighbourhoods.

Enjoying some great hockey and celebrating the rich history and cultures of Indigenous Peoples at the Tea and Bannock Cup for National Indigenous Peoples' Day.

First day in the Constituency office. Drop by and say hi if you're the Manotick area!

Great to meet the staff and volunteers at Lionhearts, a not-for-profit group working to eliminate hunger and homelessness in Ottawa.

Serving lunch to veterans with fellow MP Karen McCrimmon, staff, and volunteers at the Royal Canadian Legion in West Carleton. Thank you all for your incredible dedication and service!

Enjoying some great BBQ and even better company in support of the Stittville Food Bank.

Meeting with the fine folks at Cavanagh Construction Ltd. Cavanagh employs over 2000 people in the Ottawa area.

Enjoying some incredible cricket at the Ottawa Tapeball Premier League. Thank you Sher-E-Punjab for the invitation!

Kicking off Ottawa Innovation Week with my fellow Ottawa MPs to celebrate the talent, technology, and ideas shaping the future in the National Capital Region.

Welcoming the Nepean Hotspurs youth soccer club to Parliament Hill alongside PM Mark Carney for a friendly game to celebrate the fact that Canada will be co-hosting the 2026 FIFA World Cup.

We even got a chance to view the 2026 FIFA World Cup trophy up close. Here's hoping our future stars can bring it home to Canada one day!
