

Our plan will

Build. Protect. Empower.

Our government remains focused on lowering costs, expanding opportunity, and protecting the vital social programs Canadians rely on.

Budget 2025 will spend less on government operations so we can invest more in growing our economy and protecting essential programs that make life more affordable. We are making decisions that empower Canadians with better careers and more choices so Canadians can build the future they deserve.

When Canadians empower each other, everyone benefits.

We're making

Generational Investments.

To meet the challenges of our time and seize new opportunities, we must make generational investments that protect and transform our industries, strengthen our economy, and empower Canadians.

Canada stands at a crossroads. This is the moment to move from reliance to resilience.

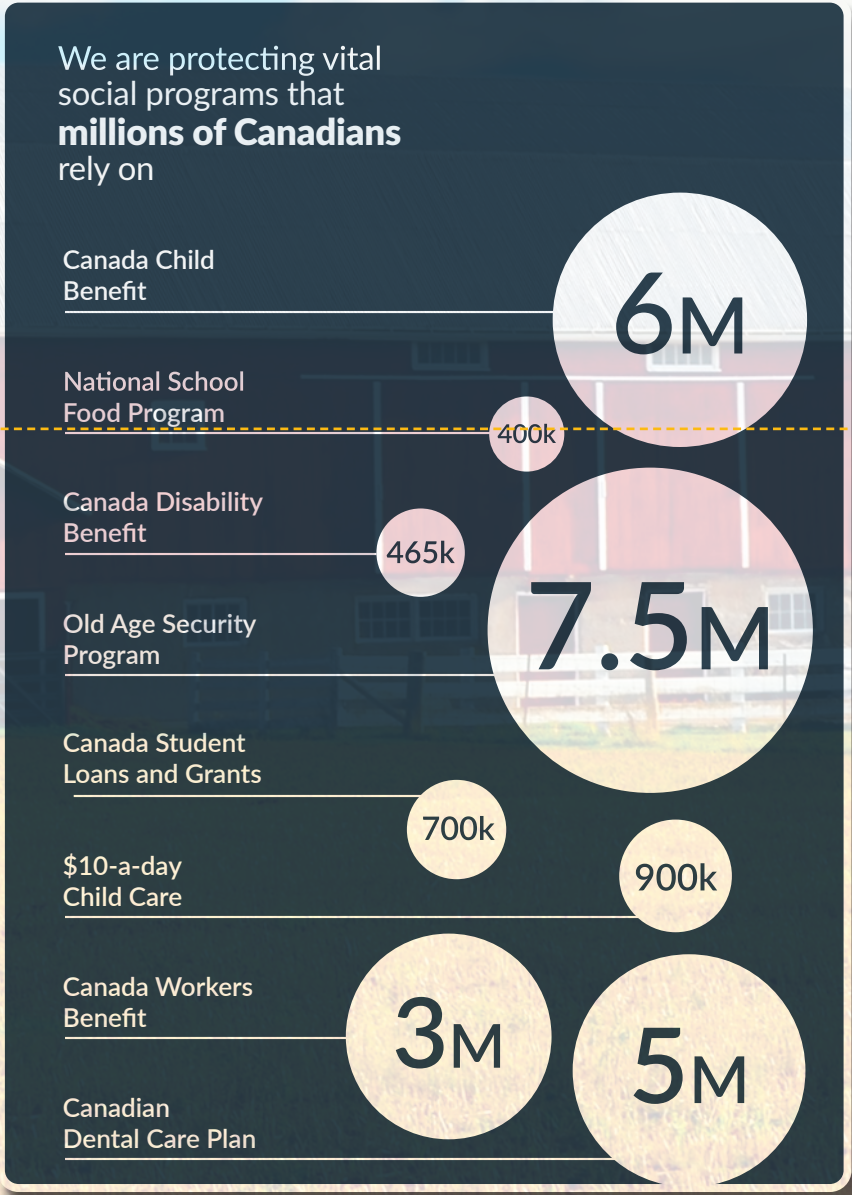

The global shocks we have endured demand more than short-term fixes; they call for a bold down payment on the prosperity of the next generation.

Our government is here to get big things done for Canadians, at a scale and speed not seen in generations. Our generational investments in housing, infrastructure, defence, and productivity and competitiveness will allow us to meet the moment and build for the future.

We're building on our

Canadian Advantage.

- Talent: A skilled, educated, and adaptable workforce.
- Resources: Critical minerals, clean and conventional energy, and agri-food.
- Market access: The only country in the G7 to have free-trade agreements with all the other G7 countries.
- Resilience: A strong social safety net and stable institutions.
- Rule of law: A robust and reliable financial system, an independent judiciary, and transparent governments.
- Investment attractiveness: A favourable environment for investments that grow our economy and create high-paying careers.
- Tax competitiveness: Lowest overall tax burden in the G7 on new business investment.

SUPPORTING AGRICULTURE & RURAL COMMUNITIES

- $109.2 million for the cost-shared AgriStability program to help agricultural producers cope with declines in farming income due to increased costs, adverse market conditions, and other challenges.
- $75 million over five years for the AgriMarketing Program to enhance the diversification and promotion of Canada's agriculture, agri-food, fish, and seafood products into new markets.
- $97.5 million over two years to temporarily increase the Advance Payments Program. This will result in interest savings for producers while increasing access to cash to cover costs until they sell their products.
- $372 million over two years to establish a Biofuels Production Incentive to support the stability and resiliency of domestic producers of biodiesel and renewable diesel, of which $175.2 million will be repurposed from the Clean Fuels Fund.
- Launched the Trade Disruption Customer Support Program through Farm Credit Canada, providing $1 billion in new lending to help reduce financial barriers for the Canadian agriculture and food industry.
- $76 million over five years for the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) to support modernised digital trade tools and services and integrate artificial intelligence into internal processes. This will simplify processes, reduce the risk of errors, fraud, and delays, and enhance traceability.
- $32.8 million over four years and $9.6 million ongoing to the CFIA to secure, expand, and restore market access for Canadian agriculture and agri-food, fish, and seafood sectors. This includes engaging directly with other countries to strike new trade agreements and expand existing ones, identify and address trade barriers, enhance regulatory cooperation, and advocate for greater market access.

Budget 2025 and the Public Service

Budget 2025 commits to making government operations more efficient so Canada can invest more in strengthening economic growth. As a result, the size of the federal public service will decrease over the next three years.

As a Member of Parliament for the National Capital Region, I have consistently advocated for public servants, ensuring their voices and concerns were represented throughout this process. Importantly, most reductions are expected to happen through attrition and voluntary departures, minimizing impacts on employees.

For those directly affected, the government is committed to fair treatment and support in exploring new opportunities within the public service or transitioning to the private sector. I remain committed to standing with public servants and supporting them every step of the way.

Canada has what the world wants.

Canada can achieve its ambition.

As we face today's challenges, our government is acting decisively. We will protect and transform our strategic industries, build a stronger economy, and invest in ourselves.

Budget 2025 makes generational investments while maintaining Canada's strong fiscal advantage—a foundation that allows us to invest ambitiously and responsibly, and build Canada's economy to be the strongest in the G7. We have everything we need to prosper in these shifting global conditions.

We have the workers, the industries, and the resources to compete and thrive in the global economy.

We can create more for ourselves than can ever be taken away. We will bet on Canada's innovators and builders, with a plan that will supercharge the growth of our economy by catalyzing hundreds of billions of dollars of new investment.

We will unite in solidarity around our own unique identity, history, and geography by protecting our culture, nature, official languages, and core values. We will build in true partnership with Indigenous Peoples.

This is our moment. Our time to make generational investments. Our plan is clear, and we are focused to deliver.

Bruce Fanjoy

Member of Parliament for Carleton

Our priorities to Build Canada Strong.

Canada is rising to meet this moment with courage and ambition—building a future of possibility, fairness, and resilience. Budget 2025 is our blueprint to unlock opportunity, empower people, and shape a stronger country for generations to come.

AFFORDABILITY

- $216.6 million per year to make the National School Food Program permanent, providing meals to 400,000 more kids every year.
- Lower barriers to accessing the Canada Disability Benefit with $115.7 million over four years for a one-time supplemental CDB payment of $150.
- Automatic federal benefits will allow the CRA to automatically file income taxes so that eligible Canadians will receive benefits they qualify for (GST/HST credit, Canada Child Benefit, etc.).
- Earlier this year, we cut middle-class taxes by lowering the first marginal income tax rate to 14%.

HOUSING

- Build Canada Homes will provide $13 billion over five years to help double the pace of home building over the next decade and build more affordable homes.
- $2.8 billion for urban, rural, and northern Indigenous housing. We will work with First Nations, Inuit, and Métis partners to ensure rapid and effective delivery.
- Eliminate the GST for first-time home buyers on new homes at or under $1 million and reduce the GST for first-time home buyers on new homes between $1 million and $1.5 million.
- Increase the Canada Mortgage Bond annual issuance limit from $60 billion to $80 billion. This will increase access to cost-effective mortgage funding for lenders, helping them offer more mortgages and support the construction of thousands of new multi-unit homes across Canada.

SENIORS

- Empower seniors to thrive in their communities through the New Horizons for Seniors Program with an annual budget of $70 million. NHSP supports projects in local communities (such as new fitness equipment for seniors' centres) that improve the quality of life for seniors.
- To help those who care for our seniors, we will introduce a Personal Support Workers Tax Credit to allow eligible personal support workers to claim a refundable tax credit equal to 5% of their eligible earnings, providing support of up to $1,100 per year.
- Launching a National Anti-Fraud Strategy to strengthen consumer protection. In 2024, Canadians lost $643 million to fraud, nearly a 300% increase since 2020, with many scams targeting seniors.

ENVIRONMENT & CLIMATE COMPETITIVENESS

- Budget 2025 outlines the new government's Climate Competitiveness Strategy, creating conditions for the investment needed to build an affordable net-zero future in which Canadian businesses are well-positioned to compete and succeed in the global economy.
- Strengthen Industrial Carbon Pricing to develop a post-2030 carbon pricing trajectory. The government will work with provinces and territories to set a multi-decade carbon price that will allow business to make investment decisions with confidence.
- New clean investment tax credits to spur investment in Clean Electricity, Clean Technology (30%), and Clean Technology Manufacturing (30%).

YOUTH

- Helping youth find and keep jobs with $1.5 billion in funding over three years to support youth employment through Canada Summer Jobs, the horizontal Youth Employment and Skills Strategy, and the Student Work Placement Program, supporting an estimated 175,000 youth in 2026-27.
- $594.7 million over two years, starting in 2026-27, to Employment and Social Development Canada for Canada Summer Jobs to support around 100,000 summer jobs in summer 2026.
- $40 million over two years to create a Youth Climate Corps to provide paid skills training for young Canadians to quickly respond to climate emergencies, support recovery, and strengthen resilience in communities across the country.

LABOUR

- Training the next generation of Canadian builders with funding of $75 million over three years to expand the Union Training and Innovation Program, which supports union-based apprenticeship training in the Red Seal trades.
- $570 million over three years to support training and employment assistance for workers impacted by tariffs and global market shifts.
- $382.9 million over five years and $56.1 million ongoing to launch a new Workforce Alliances to bring together employers, unions, and industry groups to help everyone succeed in the changing labour market and to coordinate public and private investments in skills development.

HERITAGE & CULTURE

Our government is committed to protecting what makes Canada unique and brings Canadians together through continued investments in our official languages, our public institutions, and our natural and cultural heritage.

- Building Communities through Arts and Heritage Program: $21 million over three years to support local festivals, community anniversaries, and community-initiated capital projects.
- Special Measures for Journalism: $38.4 million over three years for the Canada Periodical Fund to help small and community news outlets continue producing quality Canadian journalism.
- CBC/Radio-Canada: $150 million in 2025-26 for (on top of $42M already provided) to protect and improve our national public broadcaster.

INFRASTRUCTURE & NATION-BUILDING PROJECTS

- Build Communities Strong Fund: $51 billion over 10 years and $3 billion ongoing to support infrastructure projects and help local communities. The Fund will include three streams:
 - Community Stream: $27.8 billion over 10 years to support local infrastructure projects.
 - Direct Delivery Stream: $6 billion over 10 years to support regionally significant projects, large building retrofits, climate adaptation, and community infrastructure.
 - Provincial and Territorial Stream: $17.2 billion over 10 years to support provincial and territorial infrastructure projects, including housing-enabling infrastructure, health-related infrastructure, and infrastructure at colleges and universities. As part of this funding, $5 billion over 3 years will be dedicated for a Health Infrastructure Fund to help provinces and territories ensure their health infrastructure is able to respond to the health care needs of Canadians.
- Major Projects Office: $213.8 million over five years, starting in 2025-26, for the Major Projects Office (MPO) and Indigenous Advisory Council.
- Explore options for the NCR's Canadian Photonics Fabrication Centre to attract private capital, scale its operations, and serve as a platform for Canadian innovation and new photonic applications

DEFENCE & SECURITY

- Rebuilding, Rearming, and Reinvesting in the Canadian Armed Forces: $81.8 billion over five years to provide the CAF the support and tools it needs to meet the modern threat environment.
 - $20.4 billion over five years to recruit and retain a strong fighting force, including support for CAF health care and generational pay raises for the CAF.
 - $19.0 billion over five years to repair and sustain CAF capabilities and defence infrastructure.
 - $17.9 billion over five years to expand Canada's military capabilities.
 - $6.6 billion over five years for a new Defence Industrial Strategy to develop our defence industrial base so that more of our military capabilities are procured from Canadian supply chains.
 - $2 billion in 2025/2026 to provide additional military assistance to Ukraine.
- Meeting our NATO Commitments: Canada will reach the NATO 2% target this fiscal year and is on a pathway to meet the new NATO 5% Defence Investment Pledge by 2035.

PUBLIC SAFETY

- Our government will establish a new Financial Crimes Agency to be Canada's lead enforcement agency against financial crimes.
- $1.7 billion over four years for the RCMP to strengthen response capabilities to combat transnational organised crime, extortion rings, and money laundering.
- $617.7 million over five years for the Canada Border Services Agency to increase its capacity to detect and intercept illicit goods and defend Canadian industries.
- $38.7 million over three years to allow for the continuation of the Assault-Style Firearms Compensation Program to remove assault-style weapons from our streets.
